Frequently asked questions about my account changes

Below are some of the most frequently asked questions concerning the transition of your business accounts to U.S. Bank. More detail on these changes and other information is contained in this guide.

Please note: You may receive separate, additional notices from U.S. Bank that provide more detailed information on upcoming business account changes. Please take a moment to review this information and, if necessary, act upon these changes per the instructions provided.

Important changes will take effect on your deposit accounts on May 30. Please read the entire enclosed U.S. Bank Your Deposit Account Agreement document and the Business Pricing Information section of this guide for a complete list of account terms, policies and pricing.

CHECKING, SAVINGS, MONEY MARKET AND CDS

Are my account numbers changing?

Yes. It is necessary for U.S. Bank to renumber all deposit accounts when they transition to U.S. Bank – but your Union Bank business account numbers will be usable for a period of time after conversion, as explained below. A letter containing your new checking, savings, money market, or certificates of deposit (CD) account numbers will be mailed to you in May. If you have a business loan or line of credit, you will be notified after conversion if your account number changes. You will be able to view your new business account numbers in mobile and online banking beginning in May.

What will happen to my overdraft protection?

If you currently have overdraft protection on your checking account, this protection will continue in most situations for accounts linked to another deposit account or to your new U.S. Bank Business Credit Card, as long as it is activated. Refer to the Overdraft Protection Information section for more information.

Will my Union Bank checks continue to work?

Yes. You may continue to use your existing Union Bank checks and deposit slips until your supply runs out, for your deposit accounts following the transition of your accounts to U.S. Bank. You will be sent a letter in May with your new account number and instructions on how to order new U.S. Bank checks when you are ready.

Will I be able to access the funds in my accounts as they convert over to U.S. Bank?

Yes. You will have access to your entire Available Balance during the transition to U.S. Bank.

DEBIT AND ATM CARDS

What will happen to my Union Bank Business Debit and/or ATM Card?

You will be able to use your current Union Bank Business Debit and/or ATM Card, along with your existing personal identification number (PIN), through July 31.

Your Union Bank Business Debit and/or ATM Card will stop working on August 1, or when you activate your new U.S. Bank Business Debit and/or ATM Card, whichever comes first.

If your current Union Bank Business Debit Card only accesses a savings account, you will be receiving a new U.S. Bank ATM Card.

When will I receive a new U.S. Bank Business Debit and/or ATM Card?

You will receive a new U.S. Bank Business Debit and/or ATM Card by July 15. If you do not receive your card by this date, please call our Business Service Center at 800-673-3555 for assistance.

Will my PIN change?

No, your PIN will not change. You will be able to use your existing PIN with your new U.S. Bank Business Debit and/or ATM Card.

Will automatic payments that I set up with my Union Bank Business Debit Card transfer to my new U.S. Bank Business Debit Card?

Most automatic payments that were set up with your Union Bank Business Debit Card will automatically be updated with your new card information (card number, expiration date and the three-digit security code displayed on the back of your card). Common automatic payments include utility companies and cell phone services. You will need to verify that all of your automatic payments were updated accordingly.

Will ATM fees still be waived?

Yes, for transactions within the U.S. Bank ATM network. ATM transactions made at non-U.S. Bank ATMs may incur a fee.¹ U.S. Bank has an expansive ATM network. For a full listing of U.S. Bank branches with ATM access, please visit usbank.com/locations. Refer to the Business Pricing Information section for more information.

What will happen to my Union Bank Business Credit Card?

Your current Union Bank Business Credit Card will be replaced with a new U.S. Bank Business Credit Card and number beginning in late May. Please continue to use your Union Bank Business Credit Card as usual and watch for future U.S. Bank communications regarding your credit card account.

1. If a Non-U.S. Bank ATM Transaction fee applies, U.S. Bank will assess a fee for each ATM Transaction conducted at the Non-U.S. Bank ATM. Additionally, Non-U.S. Bank ATM owners may apply a surcharge fee unless they participate in the MoneyPass® Network. If you use an ATM that uses the MoneyPass® Network and are charged a fee, please contact us at 800-USBANKS (872-2657) for a refund. To find MoneyPass® ATM locations, select "Show MoneyPass® ATM Network locations" in the ATM locator usbank.com/locations. Non-U.S. Bank ATMs are defined as any ATM that does not display the U.S. Bank logo in any manner, physically on the ATM or digitally on the screen. Please refer to the Business Pricing Information section for miscellaneous checking, savings or money market fees and a summary of ATM transaction fees.

Overdraft coverage and overdraft fees

Your checking and money market accounts will convert with our standard overdraft coverage.

More details are provided below. Additional information about our standard overdraft coverage is provided in the enclosed Your Deposit Account Agreement.

What is an overdraft?

An overdraft occurs when you do not have enough of an Available Balance in your account to cover a transaction and we pay it on your behalf. We can cover your overdraft in two different ways:

1. We have standard overdraft coverage that comes with your account.
2. We also offer overdraft protection plans that may be less expensive than our standard overdraft coverage, such as linking to another deposit or line of credit account.

Refer to the next page for information related to your existing overdraft protection that may transfer to U.S. Bank.

What is the standard overdraft coverage that comes with my business account?

As part of our standard overdraft coverage, we will authorize and pay overdrafts for these types of transactions at our discretion:

- Checks and other transactions using your checking account number
- Automatic bill payments
- Recurring debit card transactions, such as setting up your debit card to automatically pay a monthly gym membership

How much does overdraft coverage cost?

There is no charge for overdraft coverage, though there is an Overdraft Paid Fee.

U.S. Bank will charge an Overdraft Paid Fee of $36.00 for each overdraft item we pay on your behalf. Whether we charge the fee is based upon the dollar amount of the item, meaning:

- There will be no Overdraft Paid Fee for each overdraft item we pay on your behalf that is $5.00 or less.
- Overdraft Paid Fee is $36.00 for each overdraft item we pay on your behalf that is $5.01 or more.

Are there limits to what I could be charged for overdrafts?

We know it is sometimes difficult to track every transaction. In the event the Available Balance at the end of the business day is overdrawn or would be $5.01 or more, an Overdraft Paid Fee may be assessed for each item. In the event the Available Balance at the end of the business day is or would be overdrawn by $5.00 or less, a fee will not be assessed. U.S. Bank limits the number of charges to a daily maximum of six (6) Overdraft Paid Fees per day, no matter how many items we pay on your behalf. In the event your Available Balance at the end of the business day is or would be overdrawn by $5.00 or less, we will not charge an Overdraft Paid Fee.

How else can U.S. Bank help me avoid overdrafts?

To help you manage your account, we can alert you if your balance is low with a text message or email. Please be advised that these alerts may not be sent immediately. Sign up for this service by logging in to your account at usbank.com.

Overdraft protection information

What will happen to my current overdraft protection options?

Your current checking account overdraft protection will continue for accounts linked:

- To another deposit account (checking, savings and/or money market) where at least one account owner is the same on both the linked deposit account and the checking account.
- To a converted and activated U.S. Bank Business Credit Card, if all of the account owners are also the account owners on the linked line of credit.

If you currently have a deposit or credit account linked to your checking account with different account owner(s) than your checking account, the account will not be linked to your checking account for overdraft protection beginning May 30.

To avoid overdraft fees and manage your overdraft protection, you can link another deposit account, credit product or active U.S. Bank Business Credit Card account with the same account owner(s) or open a new deposit account before May 30.

Changes to your overdraft protection

Beginning May 30, there will be some changes to how your overdraft protection service works, such as the amount transferred, interest rates and fee(s). Refer to the Business Pricing Information section or the enclosed Your Deposit Account Agreement for more information.

Additionally:

- If you currently have a Cash Reserve account, it will be converted to the U.S. Bank Business Reserve Line as long as account owner(s) names are the same on both accounts. Accounts without the same account owner(s) will not continue to be linked for overdraft protection.
- Personal accounts and business accounts cannot be linked together for overdraft protection. Personal and business accounts currently linked together for overdraft protection will not continue to be linked.

How overdraft protection works for business banking accounts

Overdraft protection plans help avoid the expense of overdraft fees and allow an eligible account(s) to be linked to a U.S. Bank business checking account(s). Overdraft transfer fees may apply.

Eligible accounts include:

- U.S. Bank business savings or money market account
- A secondary U.S. Bank business checking account
- U.S. Bank Business Reserve Line of Credit
- U.S. Bank Business Credit Cards
- U.S. Bank Cash Flow Manager or Advantage Line

One business deposit account and one business credit account may be linked to a business checking account as overdraft protection. When a customer has both a credit account and deposit account linked to their business checking, the system will always advance first from the credit product. Funds only draw from the deposit product if the credit product has insufficient available funds. If there is only a linked depository account, there will be no transfer fee(s) providing there are sufficient funds available in that account.

If your negative Available Balance is $5.00 or less, the transfer amount will be $5.00, and the Overdraft Protection Transfer fee will be waived. When the overdraft protection transfer is made from a linked deposit account (U.S. Bank business savings account, money market or a secondary checking account), there is no fee.

U.S. Bank Business Reserve Line of Credit, Credit Card, Cash Flow Manager or other linked accounts have different minimum transfer fund amounts when used for overdraft protection. Transfer fees will apply to credit products. Please refer to the Business Pricing Information section and the enclosed Your Deposit Account Agreement for additional information about business banking overdraft protection plans.

Additional business deposit account information

Business accounts – statement update

Whether you currently receive e-statements (online) or paper statements, you will receive a final paper Union Bank account statement for each of your Union Bank checking, money market or savings accounts in the mail in late May. This statement will reflect any account activity between your most recent statement and May 26. Starting with the activity on May 27, you will receive a U.S. Bank account statement. If you currently receive both e-statements and paper statements, once your accounts are converted, you will have to choose to receive only e-statements or only paper statements.

Past Union Bank e-statements will be viewable through U.S. Bank mobile and online banking; however, there may be a delay in your ability to view statements online. We recommend that you retain any online statements from your Union Bank digital banking that you may need immediately. Please note that if you do not enroll in U.S. Bank mobile and online banking within 60 days of account conversion and you currently receive e-statements, your e-statements will convert to paper statements and you may be charged a fee. For more information, please refer to the Business Pricing Information section. You can also easily manage your paperless preferences anytime within U.S. Bank digital banking services.

Are there fees for deposit account statements? e-statements

For customers who currently receive e-statements with Union Bank, we will continue to provide e-statements with U.S. Bank at no charge with enrollment in U.S. Bank mobile or online banking.

Please note that if you do not enroll in U.S. Bank mobile or online banking within 60 days of account conversion and you currently receive e-statements, your e-statements will convert to paper statements and you may be charged a fee. For more information, please see Mobile and Online Banking at U.S. Bank section on page 13.

You can also easily manage your paperless preferences anytime within U.S. Bank digital banking services.

Paper statements

Customers with accounts converting to Silver Business Checking will not be charged a paper statement fee through May 2024. Customers with accounts converting to Gold Business Checking with Interest will have their paper statement fee waived for 60 days past conversion. The Business Pricing Information section provides additional information applicable to paper statements.

To avoid a paper statement fee, enroll in electronic or paperless statements through online banking or the U.S. Bank Mobile App. For additional instructions on how to enroll, refer to the Mobile and Online Banking section. Please refer to the enclosed Your Deposit Account Agreement for information about statements and notices.

Will I still be able to use my current checks?

Yes. You may continue to use your existing Union Bank checks and deposit slips, until your supply runs out, for your deposit accounts following the transition of your accounts to U.S. Bank.

What will new business banking checking orders cost?

U.S. Bank will provide 75% off the first check order through our check provider Deluxe®, up to a maximum of $150 dollars. This offer will expire 12 months past your conversion date.

What will happen to my payroll service if I use a vendor?

Your service with your payroll vendor will continue as it does today. You will need to provide your new checking account number to your payroll vendor once you receive it.

Will my Union Bank Business Debit and/or ATM Card withdrawal and purchase limit remain the same?

Yes. Your withdrawal and purchase limits will remain the same with your new U.S. Bank Business Debit and/or ATM Card.

Will I still be able to request cash back with my new U.S. Bank Business Debit Card?

Yes. You will be able to request cash back when you make a purchase using your business debit card and enter your PIN.

You can easily make a deposit several ways beginning on May 30.

- Mobile check deposit¹ is safe and secure with the U.S. Bank Mobile App. Your mobile check deposit limits can be found in your mobile banking.
- Most U.S. Bank ATMs accept deposits 24 hours a day and do not require an envelope. To find an ATM with deposit capabilities, please visit usbank.com/locations.
- Any U.S. Bank branch will welcome your deposit at the teller or drive-up window.

1. Services available in U.S. only. Eligibility requirements and restrictions apply. Contact a U.S. Bank branch to obtain the Digital Services Agreement for more information.

Additional business deposit account information

How are my FDIC-insured deposits handled?

The FDIC will insure your Union Bank deposits separately from any existing U.S. Bank deposits for a period of six months after the date of the merger of Union Bank and U.S. Bank.

Certificates of deposit (CDs) previously held at Union Bank are separately insured until the earliest maturity date after the end of the six-month period. CDs that mature during the six-month period and are renewed for the same term and dollar amount as the original deposit (either with or without accrued interest added to the principal amount) will continue to be separately insured until the first maturity date after the six-month period. If a CD matures during the six-month period and is renewed for any other term or dollar amount, it will be separately insured only until the end of the six-month period. Your U.S. Bank deposit accounts are FDIC-insured to the maximum permitted by law.

When will my deposited funds be available to me?

In most cases, you will have immediate access to the first $225 of the total deposits made the business day of the deposit, including ATM deposits; generally, the remaining amount of the deposit will be available to you on the first business day after the day the deposit was made unless you are notified otherwise. Please review the enclosed Your Deposit Account Agreement for information about the U.S. Bank Funds Availability policy, which applies to checking, savings and money market accounts.

What if a deposit gets returned?

If you make a deposit and the item is returned for insufficient funds on the account, a Return Item Advice notice is mailed to the primary account address on file. We will not automatically redeposit the item. A Returned Deposited Item fee may apply; please see the Business Pricing Information section for more details.

How will I be notified of an overdraft or returned item on my account?

U.S. Bank has several ways to notify customers of an overdraft or returned item on an account. We will mail a notification the day after the occurrence, but there are other ways to know if your Available Balance falls below a certain amount or has become negative.

Simply enroll in U.S. Bank mobile and/or online banking so you can view your account transaction activity at any time. You can set up multiple alerts to be sent directly to you via email or text message on your mobile device.¹

What will happen to my automatic recurring transfers between deposit accounts?

If you have an automatic recurring transfer between your deposit accounts at Union Bank, those transfers will continue.

What about my existing stop payments?

If you currently have a stop payment on your account for check or ACH transactions, it will remain in effect as your accounts convert to U.S. Bank for the duration stated:

- Expiration date is before May 30, 2025 – stop payment date will remain the same.
- Expiration date is after May 30, 2025 – stop payment will expire on May 30, 2025.
- No expiration date – stop payment will expire on May 30, 2024.

To cancel a stop payment, you can log into your account via the U.S. Bank Mobile App or online banking, at your local U.S. Bank branch or by calling the Business Service Center at 800-673-3555.

If you have a stop payment on your Union Bank Business Debit Card, it will not be converted to U.S. Bank. After receiving your new U.S. Bank Business Debit Card, please contact U.S. Bank to re-establish any stop payments that were set up with your Union Bank Business Debit Card.

What will happen to my safe deposit box?²

Your safe deposit box will remain at the same location unless you have been notified in a separate letter. If you are currently having your safe deposit box rental fee debited from your Union Bank checking, savings or money market account, this will continue only if your account is being converted to a U.S. Bank checking, savings or money market account. A notice will be mailed annually for the amount due. Please read this notice carefully as your safe deposit box rental fee may change as it switches over to U.S. Bank standard safe deposit box pricing. If you receive an invoice to pay your annual safe deposit box rental fee, that will continue; however, please be aware that U.S. Bank charges a fee for this service. Please refer to the Business Pricing Information section for related fees.

You can avoid the invoice fee by having your safe deposit box rental fee automatically debited from your U.S. Bank checking, savings or money market account. Please review the Business Pricing Information section for additional information applicable to available safe deposit box rental fee discounts.

1. For text alerts, standard messaging charges apply through your mobile carrier and message frequency depends on account settings.

2. Safe deposit boxes and their contents are not covered by FDIC insurance or U.S. Bank's insurance policy.

Union Bank Time Deposit Account(s) (CDs)

What will happen to my Union Bank Time Deposit Account(s) (CDs)?

If you have a Union Bank Time Deposit Account (CD), your existing terms and conditions, including your interest rate and maturity date, will remain the same until your certificate matures. Your CD will receive a new account number, which will be mailed to you in May.

The form in which your interest is paid – added to the account, transferred to another deposit account or by check – will not change. Please note that U.S. Bank will not send a notice when interest is paid on a CD account. If you earn interest and move to another state, U.S. Bank will report the interest earned during the time you lived in each state.

A note about odd-term CDs: If you opened a CD with a term other than 12, 24, 36, 48 or 60 months, it will automatically renew at the same term and will receive the rate for the CD term that is closest to but not exceeding the term of your current CD, unless you request a different term (for example, if you have a 27-month odd term CD, your CD will renew back into a 27-month term and your renewal rate will default to the 24-month rate).

A note about CDs greater than 60 months: Note that any CD with a term greater than 60 months will automatically renew into a 60-month CD term.

You may request to have your CD summary information added to your checking account statement beginning May 30. Please note that U.S. Bank will not send a renewal notice if a CD is automatically renewed.

What will happen to my Union Bank Foreign Currency Time Deposit?

For customers with a Foreign Currency Time Deposit account, please watch for a separate communication with more information regarding your new account.

The following are the new terms and early withdrawal penalties and fee that will apply to any renewed CD. Please read these carefully. If you do not agree with these terms, you may withdraw the full amount of your CD prior to its first renewal date between May 30, 2023, and August 30, 2023, without incurring an early withdrawal penalty and fee.

Rate information – The interest rate on your account may be adjusted upon renewal. Unless otherwise indicated, you will earn this adjusted rate for the next term of your certificate. Your CD is automatically renewed for the same term. The rate is determined based on the published rate for the CD, excluding CD Specials, that is closest to but not exceeding the term of the CD. Advertised rate and Annual Percentage Yield can be found at usbank.com or by calling our Business Service Center at 800-673-3555 after May 30. The Annual Percentage Yield assumes interest remains on deposit until maturity. A withdrawal will reduce earnings.

Balance computation method – Upon the first renewal of your Union Bank CD we will use the daily balance method to calculate the interest on your account. This method applies a daily periodic rate to the principal in the account each day. Interest begins to accrue the business day you deposit non-cash items, such as checks.

Compounding and crediting of interest – Interest will be credited annually for certificates with maturities greater than one year, at maturity for certificates less than one year or, at your choosing, at the credit frequency listed on your original Union Bank Time Deposit Account (CD) account terms and conditions. Interest will be compounded daily after the first CD renewal after May 30.

Union Bank Time Deposit Account(s) (CDs)

Renewal policy – You may withdraw the entire balance of your CD before its first renewal day without incurring an early withdrawal penalty and fee between May 30, 2023, and August 30, 2023. Once the CD matures and is renewed, our standard renewal policy, listed here, will apply to the renewed CD. Unless notified otherwise, CDs will automatically renew at maturity. A maturity notice is generated and mailed approximately 14 days prior to the maturity. Please note that if you receive two maturity notices on your converting CD around the time of conversion, refer to the U.S. Bank interim maturity notice and disregard the Union Bank maturity notice. You will have one opportunity during the grace period of ten (10) calendar days from the maturity date to make changes, add funds and/or withdraw funds without penalty. If the amount withdrawn is deposited into another time certificate at U.S. Bank within this ten (10) day period, interest will be paid during the ten (10) day period at the rate applicable to the new certificate. The bank may, upon not less than 30 days' written notice, elect to call a certificate for payment on a maturity date.

Minimum balance requirement – The minimum amount required to open a standard CD is $500. The minimum amount required to open a CD Special is $1,000.

General provision – This deposit is not transferable. This certificate may not be paid to any person other than the named depositor(s). Any person requesting payment of this certificate will be required to establish to the satisfaction of the bank that s(he) is the depositor.

Early withdrawal penalty – Please note that your existing Union Bank CD early withdrawal penalties and fee structure may result in a lower charge than the U.S. Bank CD early withdrawal penalties and fee structure. Existing Union Bank CD early withdrawal penalties and fee will continue to apply until the first U.S. Bank CD renewal.

Please note that we may not assess the Union Bank CD early withdrawal compensating penalty as defined in your Union Bank Time Deposit Account (CD) disclosure, but other early withdrawal penalties will still apply. For partial early withdrawals on Union Bank CDs with a term of seven (7) to 31 days prior to its first renewal with U.S. Bank, we will assess a penalty of seven (7) days interest on the amount withdrawn. As previously stated, you may withdraw the entire balance of your CD before its first renewal date without incurring an early withdrawal penalty and fee between May 30, 2023, and August 30, 2023.

A CD is an agreement to keep the funds on deposit with the bank until the current maturity date. Except as required by law, withdrawal prior to maturity will be permitted only with consent of the bank, which may only be given at the time of withdrawal. Funds will generally be available no later than the seventh business day after the day of your deposit. The following fees and penalties charged for early withdrawals and redemptions are effective after the first renewal of your converted U.S. Bank CD.

If your account has a term of six months or less, the penalty will be the greater of A or B, plus a $25 early withdrawal fee.

- A. All interest that would have been earned on the funds withdrawn if held for the entire term
- B. 1% of the amount withdrawn

If your account has a term of greater than six months through 12 months, the penalty will be the greater of A or B, plus a $25 early withdrawal fee.

- A. One-half of the interest that would have been earned on the funds withdrawn if held for the entire term
- B. 1% of the amount withdrawn

If your account has a term greater than one year, the penalty will be the greater of either A or B, plus a $25 early withdrawal fee.

- A. One-half of the interest that would have been earned on the funds withdrawn if held for the entire term
- B. 3% of the amount withdrawn

The penalty may be waived in the case of death or judicially declared mental incompetence of any owner of the certificate.

For additional information about CDs, please review the enclosed Your Deposit Account Agreement and the Business Pricing Information section.

Setting up bill pay and account-to-account transfers

Whether making a purchase, paying bills or saving for the future, we want to provide accessible money movement options with the ability to move your money where you need it, when you need it.

Choose what works best for you.

Bill payments – When you pay your bills through U.S. Bank mobile and online banking, you're in charge. Set up advance or recurring electronic payments (or checks) to be delivered on the date you choose. You can edit or cancel any payment up to the time it's processed. A phone number and address in the U.S. is required to use bill pay.

In addition to one-time payments, bill pay offers the following options:

Recurring	Set up automatic monthly payments to payees. This is a great option for payments that generally are a fixed amount every month, such as your mortgage or car payment.
e-bills	Many companies can deliver e-bills – free electronic versions of your paper bills – directly to your account in mobile and online banking. Customers like this option for bills that can vary, such as utility or credit card bills.

Zelle^{®1} – Zelle[®] is a fast, safe and easy way to send money directly between almost any bank accounts in the U.S., typically within minutes.² With just an email address or U.S. mobile phone number, you can send money to people you trust, regardless of where they bank.³ You can also use Zelle[®] to set up recurring payments.

Since money is sent directly from your bank account to another person's bank account within minutes,³ it's important to only send money to people you trust, and always ensure you've used the correct email address or U.S. mobile number. It's easier to be sure when you select your recipient from the Zelle[®] Ready Contacts list on your Select a recipient screen within Zelle[®].

Account-to-account transfers

There are many reasons you may need to move money from account to account:

Overdraft protection	Protect your checking or money market accounts from overdraft by linking another deposit or credit account for protection. Refer to the Overdraft Protection Information section for details.
Saving money	Regular or one-time transfers to accounts like savings or money market.
Funding another account	You may want to move money from one account to another for something like a major purchase. Account-to-account transfers can also be done to an account outside of U.S. Bank, provided the owners named on both accounts match.

Will my direct deposit or my pre-established automatic debits and/or credits continue?

U.S. Bank will automatically notify financial institutions originating direct deposit and other automatic debit or credit transactions to your account of the new U.S. Bank routing number and your new account number. However, please note that based on our notification, the originator of your automatic debit or credit transaction may contact you to verify the changes and ask you to complete new paperwork to have the automatic transaction continue.

We recommend that you contact the originator once you receive your new routing number and account number and inform them of the changes effective May 30, to eliminate possible disruption in automated transaction processing.

1. Zelle[®] and the Zelle[®] related marks are wholly owned by Early Warning Services, LLC and are used herein under license.
2. To send money in minutes with Zelle[®], you must have an eligible U.S. Bank account and have a mobile number registered in your online and mobile banking profile for at least three calendar days. Transactions between enrolled consumers typically occur in minutes and generally do not incur transaction fees. Terms and conditions apply.
3. Services available in U.S. only. Standard messaging charges apply through your mobile carrier. Message frequency depends on account settings. Eligibility requirements and restrictions apply. Please refer to the Digital Services Agreement for more information.

All business and commercial checking products (except for IOLTA and RETA products), as well as certain commercial money market deposit account products are assessed fees through account analysis.

Sweep service¹ between your deposit account and your investment or commercial loan

The sweep service currently set up between your Union Bank Commercial Checking account and your Union Bank loan and/or investment will be transitioned to U.S. Bank. The U.S. Bank Sweep automatically transfers excess checking account balances to the loan or investment that you've designated on a daily basis. On days when the checking account is below the established target balance, the loan sweep will make an automated loan advance to fund the checking account up to the target balance amount. If you are currently set up with a loan that only transfers to checking for overdraft protection, this will also be transitioned to U.S. Bank. Our automated investment sweeps move funds to or from checking and are invested or redeemed the following business day. Your existing Union Bank fund will automatically be converted on the first business day following the conversion day.

Your investment sweep will convert as follows:

1. Automated sweep services transfer funds between insured deposit accounts and loans, savings or investment products. Deposit products offered by U.S. Bank National Association. Member FDIC. Investment products are not deposits or obligations of, or guaranteed by, U.S. Bank or any of its affiliates, nor are they insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, or any other government agency. An investment in such products involves investment risk, including possible loss of principal. In the event of bank failure, loan sweep transfers would be allowed to pay down the loan based on excess balances in the deposit account on the day of failure. The remaining funds in the deposit account would be deemed deposits under FDIC rules and be insured up to the applicable FDIC insurance limits.

Money Market Mutual Funds

This notice is given pursuant to applicable law: In the unlikely event of bank failure, customer will maintain its interest in the money fund shares following a completed money fund sweep. The value of the shares in the money fund omnibus investment account will not be deemed "deposits" under rules promulgated by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) and will not be insured by the FDIC. On the day of failure, however, the FDIC may disallow that day's sweep to occur. If the sweep is disallowed, any excess funds that would have normally swept on that business day will remain in the DDA and will be treated as deposits. Those deposits will be insured up to the applicable FDIC insurance limits.

3. FAF stands for First American Funds.

Transitioning your Corporate & Commercial Banking account(s)

What will happen to my Zero Balance Accounts?

If you are currently using Zero Balance Account (ZBA), you will experience little to no difference in how the ZBA functions. The U.S. Bank ZBA will allow you to link together multiple checking accounts to automate management of cash disbursements while mobilizing excess balances automatically throughout your organization. The lead account provides funds to subsidiary accounts used for disbursements and collects funds from accounts used for collections. At the same time, subsidiary accounts are maintained at a zero balance, or other balance that you choose, at the end of each day.

What will happen to my returned deposited items?

Returned deposited items are charged back to the deposit account and a notice, along with the returned item, is mailed to the deposit account address. Items can be automatically re-deposited. A variety of options are available for notification, including email or fax with image copies. All fees for returned deposited items are charged as part of the month-end service charge on Account Analysis. Additional fees may apply for some of the special handling services. No action is required at this time. You will receive more information via mail or email in separate, additional notices from us in the coming months.

1. Account earns both interest and earnings credit. Interest earned during the month is deducted from earnings credit before offsetting fees.

Accounts set up with Hybrid Checking will first apply earnings credit to offset all Treasury Management service fees; if excess earnings credit remains interest is earned on excess balances.

2. The Deposit Coverage fee covers the cost of managing our clients' deposits, including factors such as operating and regulatory costs. Assessed at $0.129 per $1,000 average of ledger balances each statement cycle.

3. Prime Rate means the rate that the bank defines as its Prime Rate on the first business day of the month. Negative Collected Balance Charge is calculated as follows:
Average Negative Collected Balance X Negative Collected Balance Rate X Actual Days in Month / 360.

Standard fees disclosed, which are evaluated annually. Other Treasury Management analysis service fees may apply. Treasury Management analysis service fees, including monthly account maintenance fees, transactions fees, and other activity fees are assessed on the tenth business day of the month following the month in which they occurred. For example, analysis service charges from account activity in November 2023 will be assessed in December 2023.

Interest rates on checking and savings accounts

Interest rates on all deposit accounts are determined at the bank's discretion and may change daily. For tiered rate accounts you must maintain the minimum daily balance noted for each tier in order to earn the Annual Percentage Yield disclosed. Fees could reduce earnings on the account. For information on current Annual Percentage Yields, please call us.

We use the daily balance method to calculate interest on all checking and savings accounts. This method applies a daily periodic rate to the principal in the account each day.

Crediting of interest

Interest on your check deposit begins to accrue on the business day we receive credit for the deposit on all accounts except for Retirement Money Market. Checks deposited to Retirement Money Market begin to accrue on the calendar day the deposit is received. If you close your account before interest is credited, you will not receive the accrued interest.

Compounding of interest

Interest will be compounded daily and credited to your account monthly for all checking and savings accounts, except Standard Savings, which compounds daily and credits interest to your account quarterly.

Current deposit rate

Beginning May 30, you can call us for the Annual Percentage Yields and interest rate that will be applicable to your converted account.

Earnings credit

Fees for services used by you may be assessed in full to your accounts or may be offset through account analysis by applying earnings credit to your service charges to determine a single monthly net service charge. Your earnings credit rate is established by us and will change from time to time. For business accounts, the variable earnings credit rate may be zero or a negative rate. If the earnings credit rate for any of your account(s) or the index or other referenced rate upon which the earnings credit rate for your account(s) is based is at any time less than zero percent, you agree to pay all amounts of the negative earnings credit or fees which we impose as compensation for the negative earnings credit rate. Your net service charge could be zero if your earnings credit equals or exceeds your total charges in a given month. If your earnings credit is not sufficient to offset the amount due hereunder, you agree to pay such amounts to us upon demand.
